CAMP 1,500 BUCKS. The Town Common has been bustling with activity this week, as local volunteers and amusement ride crews work around the clock to prepare the area for the Independence Day gala that, at press time, will be swarming the streets. A few members of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club did, however, find a spot at which they could present Camp 40 Acres with a donation of $1,500 to be used towards the construction of a new facility. Seen here at the gazebo on the Common were, from left to right, Doug Cheney, the President of Camp 40 Acres, and Kiwanis Club members Wayne Crawford, Rick Fudge, Ken McCowan and Ann Rich. Cheney is a member of the Kiwanis Club too, but showed up to accept the check on the camp's behalf. (Stu Neilson photo)

Mentoring program created to assist local youths

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - When school starts again this fall, students in the seventh and eighth grades at the Wilmington Middle School will have a new program in place to enrich their education and forge bonds with elders who can help lead the way.

The Mentor Adventure Program, which has been created through the efforts of the Wilmington School/Business Partnership, will begin by October and will pair Middle School students with supportive adults from local businesses and elsewhere throughout the community. According to Dr. Carol Golub, the Chairperson of the Mentoring Committee in Wilmington, the program is designed as an after-school enrichment opportunity for "students who have stopped investing in their futures and are not achieving their potentials."

The program will use such materials as videos, CD Roms and board games to teach students how to build relationships, skills and confidence. Such activities will also focus on helping students learn how to make positive, effective decisions and resolve conflicts between one another.

"I've wanted to see this happen in town for a very long time," says Dr. Golub.

Kate Conway, the Principal of Wilmington Middle School, is pleased to have the program in place.

"Middle School years are crucial for adolescents," says Conway. "It is here that some become 'silent drop-outs,' showing up in body only but disconnecting from school."

According to Dr. Golub, a mentor can be defined a number of ways.

Local family receives picture-perfect gift

By TARRYN GUARINO

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Tewksbury resident Paul Gagnon received a very special gift recently: photographs of two important and joyous life events that suddenly resurfaced through the kindness of old friends.

The story begins nearly 50 years ago, when Gagnon, one of 12 children, was growing up on Lake Street in Wilmington. He recalls his friendship with the Chisholms, a family with 7 children of their own who also lived in the neighborhood. In particular Gagnon remembers Mrs. Chisholm, who would frequently take Paul and his siblings on local outings.

"She'd take us all down to Tattersalls, which was an ice cream parlor down by Silver Lake," recalls Gagnon. "On Saturdays, she'd take us to Confession. She was a very generous woman."

The families remained close, even as the children grew up. Gagnon remembers that he and his brothers would occasionally work on the Chisholm family milk farm in the summertime. In 1959, Mrs. Chisholm attended Gagnon's wedding at St. Mary's church in Tewksbury - and she brought her camera.

"She was the only one who took pictures at the wedding, since we didn't have a camera in those days. She was always taking pictures at functions," Gagnon remembers.

It seems that Mrs. Chisholm had kept an organized archive of all the photos she took at various family functions throughout the years, dating and labeling each one. Though Mrs. Chisholm passed away nearly 20 years ago, it was only recently, after her husband's death earlier this year, that the Chisholm children happened upon their mother's photo of residents.

The event will provide voters with the opportunity to decide whether or not to rescind and revise the article passed at the Annual Town Meeting in April that had paved the way for a new library to be built at the site of the old Whitefield School in North Wilmington.

The Special Town Meeting, which will boast three articles on its warrant, will take place in the Barrows Auditorium of the Wilmington High School at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, August 5.

For residents Suzanne Sullivan and Daniel Woodbury, the board's decision to declare the meeting comes as a victory after their initial petition to request a Special Town Meeting was rejected on the grounds that the document did not state its intent. Last week, Sullivan and Woodbury submitted a revised petition that contained the appropriate language. As a result of the submission, the selectmen directed Town Manager Michael Cairra last week to temporarily halt spending on the library project until the outcome of the Special Town Meeting controversy is known.

Now that outcome will be known on the evening of August 5.

"Now comes the hard part," kidded Sullivan after the selectmen meeting adjourned on Monday night.

At the Annual Town Meeting this spring, voters approved Article 29 by a slim margin of five votes, in effect securing the appropriation of $550,000 for the design of a new library to be built at the site of the Whitefield School on Middlesex

Does your home need repairs? Grant money could be on the way

By JAKE PETERSON

WILMINGTON - Wilmington property owners with homes in need of repairs may be eligible for a grant program sponsored by the Wilmington Community Development Office.

According to James Chaput, the Director of Community Development, this grant money would help property owners with typical home improvements, such as new vinyl replacement windows, roofs, structural repairs and bathroom renovations.

This grant does not lend assistance in dealing with cosmetic issues, such as painting or vinyl siding.

The typical grant amount awarded in the past several years, according to Chaput, has been between $500,000 and $600,000, or enough to assist between 25 and 30 homeowners. Interested property owners are encouraged to submit a pre-application as soon as possible to be included on the waiting list for the new grant.

Repairs needed to bring homes up to building code standards will be addressed before homes that are not in violation of building codes.

There are income guidelines for applicants to be accepted for the grants. Although those income guidelines are subject to change, a typical family of four would be eligible if they had a maximum income of $58,300 or less.

An August public hearing will be held to hear comments from residents in regards to what they would like to see improved in their homes and throughout the community. Those comments will accompany the final grant proposal to be submitted in the early fall. Grant money should be available and repairs started in early 2003.

Residents are encouraged to contact Chaput for more information or for a pre-application form at 978-658-9843.

PORTRAIT OF KINDNESS. Paul Gagnon and his sister, Yvonne Love, admire one of the photos given to them recently by the Chisholm family. The pictures, which were taken decades ago, captured the joys of family occasions that the Gagnons had not known had been photographed.

FUTURE FIREFIGHTERS? The three-year-olds at the Fun and Learning Pre-School in Wilmington recently took a tour of the Fire Department at the Public Safety Building. After donning fire hats and rounding up some safety personnel, the youths hopped on the department's rescue boat and gave the kind of firefighting smiles that would do Smokey Bear proud. The children are Charlie Minghella, Steven Godfrey, Daniel Smalley, Olivia Hill, Morgan Walsh, Madisyn Finn and Samantha Mercurio. With them are Lieutenant Joe McMahon and Firefighters Fred Ryan, Bob Woods, Dave Feyler and Eric Gronemeyer. (courtesy photo)

Martins Pond Festival to be held on July 13

NO. READING - The eighth annual Martins Pond Association Summer Festival will be held Saturday, July 13 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Clarke Park on the shore of Martins Pond on Burroughs Road in North Reading. The Martins Pond Association is a North Reading town-chartered charity whose mission is to improve Clarke Park and educate the public about the value of Martins Pond. This year's event includes a children's fishing derby, a petting zoo, canoe races, a raffle, pontoon boat rides, a choo-choo bounce, pony rides, face painting, crafts, live music, great food and lots more.

The annual Children's Fishing Derby starts the day from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. for kids 12 and under. There will be trophies and prizes. It is free to enter, but participants must sign up with the Wildside Bass Club at the park by 9:30 a.m. Shore fishing only allowed.

At 11 a.m. the Summer Festival gears up with the rest of the family fun. There will be face painting, three-legged races, tug of war, a pie eating contest and pony rides. Families can take a free guided pontoon boat ride around the pond and learn about the unique Martins Pond habitat. A new attraction this year is a petting zoo with animals from around the world including a miniature zebu, a miniature horse, potbelly pigs and rabbits. Enjoy such crafts and activities as potato prints, a Henna artist and Rocky Mountain Climber. Entertainment will include a martial arts demonstration and performances by the Dancing School, Jim Kangas, Jazz X-tet and the Chameleons band. As always there will be great food: This year features sausage-pepper and onion subs, barbecued chicken sandwiches, Richie's slush and lots more.

Tickets for the annual Six-Bike Raffle may be purchased at the Martins Pond Association booth on the day of the event. Six children's bikes and many other prizes will be raffled off to raise funds for the Park. A flea market will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Martins Pond t-shirts and hats, Tupperware and Pampered Chef cookbooks will also be available for purchase. All proceeds are used for park improvements and education.

Wilmington area host families needed now

WILMINGTON - Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive very soon for academic semester and year program homestays, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (PIE) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18, are English speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. area representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match. As there are no "typical" host families, P.I.E. can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50.00 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

For the upcoming programs, P.I.E. has students from Germany, the Former Soviet Union, Venezuela, Argentina, Brazil, Finland, Hungary, Korea, Switzerland, Mexico, Italy, Paraguay, Australia, Yugoslavia, China, Belgium, Vietnam and many other countries. P.I.E. has also been invited to participate in a special government-funded program to bring scholarship students from the newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union to the United States. P.I.E. is a non-profit educational organization that has sponsored more than 20,000 students from 40 countries since its founding in 1975. The organization is designated by the United States Department of State and is listed by the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIET), certifying that the organization complies with the standards set forth in CSIET's Standards for International Educational Travel Programs.

Doty encourages families to contact the program immediately, as it will allow the proper time for the students and hosts to get to know one another before they actually meet for the first time.

Wilmington area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call P.I.E., toll free at 1-800-631-1818. The agency also has travel/study program opportunities available for American high school students as well as possibilities for community volunteers to assist and work with area hosts families, students and schools.

HIRE YOUR KIDS THIS SUMMER

Once youngsters are past summer camp stage, it's summer job time. And the best deal around can be working in the family business. Parents can deduct from business income what they pay the children, and the kids can earn up to $4,700 without tax bite. And if the business isn't incorporated, their pay may not be subject to Social Security taxes.

The key is this: the job must be a real one, with the kind of pay and hours reasonable for any kid that age. Duties can range from answering the phone and doing light typing to lugging boxes in a warehouse—or any other reasonable jobs. Keep records of their work hours, pay them on a regular schedule with a business check, and prepare a W-2 form for them just as for any other worker.

Besides instilling the work ethic in young people, and providing some pocket money, hiring them can save the parent-employers a lot of Social Security or self-employment taxes.

Lots of small businesses bring their tax and finance questions to us. Ask the professionals at Fireworks, exploding overhead in red hot bursts of red, white and blue.

Parades, marching proudly and festively in a procession of bands, clowns and floats.

Barbecues, complete with hot dogs, hamburgers, ribs, potato salad and lemonade.

Amusement rides, turning, swirling, rising and plunging.

And the weather, scorching hot and blazingly sunny.

What a great time of the year. What a party is the Fourth of July.

During the past ten months, we have observed Veterans Day and Memorial Day with an appropriate, increased solemnity as a result of the lives lost during the terrorist attacks of September 11.

This, however, is the Fourth of July. On Thursday, the United States of America turns 226 years old. It is our collective birthday, and, with all that has happened in the world during the past year, we're still here to celebrate it. So let us do so.

There are those who are no longer with us because tragedy took them from us. They remain alive, however, in the precious fabric of our history, and the memories of the lives they lived must be remembered and celebrated.

Have a safe and fun Independence Day. And enjoy those fireworks.

Food for Thought

"Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man." Daniel Webster, Remarks on Agriculture, Boston 1840.

The very first thought that comes to mind when you drive up the hill to the Griggs Farm is "Old Fashioned." These 52 acres of farmland and open space, now preserved in cooperation with the Town of Billerica and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, have been a tradition for almost 60 years. This is a family farm where Gil, now 85, and his son Bill are on the job every day. Both are great to talk with, they can answer any of your questions, and they really do know what they're talking about. As the saying goes, there's nothing like experience.

When you look around, all the plants are healthy and strong, not "forced" to look artificially beautiful. The place is manageable, not unnecessarily oversized like those upscale, elaborate, huge garden centers, where you can walk for blocks through the "eternal-tropical-gardens" surrounded by extravagant, imposing hangers and planters, with price tags to match. Here's what you get at Griggs: Springtime you'll find all of the popular annuals, and lots of tried-and-true, good size perennials, herb and vegetable plants and hangers. The only place I have ever been able to find "small-leaf" sturdy Coleus, in unusual colors, is at Griggs. It's also the only place where I can find healthy, strong, straight Zinnias that produce the big flower.

Summer time brings those to-die-for farmland tomatoes and fresh sweet corn. I can't think of any other taste sensation more anticipated than the first tomato of the season or that long awaited ear of native corn. All of the other regional vegetables that you would want are also grown at Griggs, along with peaches and other fruits in season.

Fall brings tons of pumpkins, tons of Mums, fall vegetables, and the best, juicy, crunchy apples to be found anywhere.

Christmas trees, wreaths, poinsettias and baskets are available before the close of the year.

The opportunity to buy locally while preserving a piece of our cherished New England past is both a privilege and an obligation. Knowing that my food didn't travel halfway around the world, packed and preserved, and God knows what else, is reassuring. Griggs dedication to this principle deserves your support. Their plants and produce are superior, their commitment honorable. And, oh yes, there's a wonderful little ice cream stand just at the center of the hill, not 100 feet away.

So small is better, right? But how small? What about smaller than a one-man operation. Think about that. We simply call it "Wildwood" a single pushcart sitting by the side of the road on Wildwood Street in Wilmington. No attendant, no one to make change, no one to ask questions. But you won't be alone. The phenomenon of Wildwood is interesting. Here we are, all of us, headed for Wildwood without the list. We go to see what's available today, what's in season. We don't go for what we want, we go to see what "He" has. Our buying is reversed. I don't know of any other "vendor who could get away with this. Is this what is meant by the negative sell?"

We put our money in a wooden box. We mentally figure our bill. We make change in round numbers. Off and on we make good on the difference the following day.

Sometimes in August I make more than one trip to Wildwood to see if the corn is in. I was headed down "62" from North Wilmington on such a day. For some unknown reason the traffic was crawling along. When we got near Wildwood Street cars sped off toward Glen Road and straight ahead in frustration. As I looked ahead I realized it was Mr. Luongo who was slowly, carefully turning the corner in his old reliable farm truck overloaded with today's corn. People were already waiting as we approached his property. Everyone started picking right off the truck. Not wanting to make extra trips I asked him what time he would be arriving each day. Without really looking at me, as he continued to unload his delivery, he quietly said "When I can. When I'm done, I leave. It can be later." There was no pressing him for more details. The Man had spoken! The message was clear. He didn't live by the clock.

I think I'm on to the secret of Wildwood. I know that Mr. Luongo hauls his harvest to Wilmington from his farmland in Haverhill fresh every day. I know the labor of his love is genuine, his crops exceptional. But the appeal goes further. I think we are drawn to Wildwood because it pulls us together. It slows us down. This little oasis of healthfulness reinforces what we all so much want to believe, that most of us can give and keep our word "on a handshake" that there is trust in this town.

Letters to the Editor

Congratulations

Dear Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Mrs. Lamson for being appointed to the interim position of the Wilmington School Committee. I would also like to thank those who encouraged and supported me after I had expressed interest in this position. I feel as though I have a lot to offer to the children of this community, and I hope that the citizens of Wilmington will support my efforts in future town elections.

Sincerely,
Mark DiGiovanni

Please attend 9/11 ceremony

Dear Editor:
The events of September 11, 2001 have brought rise to numerous emotions in all of us. From sadness, grief and anger to generosity, unity and patriotism. It is that patriotism that we celebrate each year in Wilmington. Patriotism is partly the flag waving, band playing and fireworks that spark a special spirit in each of us. But more importantly it is the knowledge that "Proud to be an American" is more than a punch line from a popular song. It is the single most important item that binds us together as citizens of the greatest nation on earth. This week the Wilmington community gathers on the Common to greet old and new friends, spend special time with our families, be a part of Wilmington's best event or simply to have fun.

This year we ask you to do one more thing. Join us on Saturday July 6th at 9:11 PM on Wilmington Common. We will have a special ceremony to remember the victims of 9/11, pay tribute to our hero's, past and present, and celebrate the spirit that makes us one nation, under God, and most importantly, INDIVISIBLE.

Theft of state flag a "despicable" act

Dear Editor:
In an astonishing mid-afternoon heist, a thief walked away with the Massachusetts state flag from the Tewksbury Public Library on Friday, June 28, 2002. While performers were bringing in equipment and props for a special program for children, an unidentified male entered the first floor meeting room, removed the flag from its stand, and walked away with it. The flag was less than a month old.

In late May, the Friends of the Library had coordinated the purchase of flags and stands for the library, and the library was proud to display the crisp, bright American flag, the state flag and the Town's flag. A donation from the Tewksbury Garden Club paid for the state flag. At the same time, red, white and blue bunting for the library's entrance was donated, just in time for the Memorial Day weekend.

Since September 11, Americans have been conscious of patriotism in a new way, and many citizens have shown their pride in our country by displaying the flag. One bumper sticker featuring the red, white and blue proclaims, "These colors don't run."

Well, flags don't run away without the assistance of humans, and we consider the theft of the public library's flag to be a despicable act.

It is our hope that the person who took the flag has a change of heart and decides to return it. The flag, when folded, will fit inside the book return slot at the library's front entrance. We hope that it is returned, hopefully before the Fourth of July, when all loyal Americans salute the colors.

Area students graduate from Assumption College

Recreation Department Inclusionary Playground Program

WILMINGTON - This July 1 the Recreation Department's Inclusionary Playground Program will begin its 27th year servicing the youth of Wilmington.

Over the almost three decades that the Inclusionary program has been in existence, it has gone through many changes. The leadership has changed over the years, as have the name of the program and the location of where the program is held.

However, the mission of the program has never changed. It has always been the intention of the Inclusionary Playground Program to be a place where youngsters can go to have fun, play games, take part in field trips and enjoy themselves in a small group setting, comparative to the other Recreation Department summer playground programs.

The only difference between the Inclusionary Playground Program and the other two playground programs is population that the program is designed for and geared to. The Inclusionary Playground program is designed to meet the needs of those youngsters who need smaller groups, more individualized attention, and that may have a special need that cannot be met in one of the larger playground programs. Our playground features a smaller youth to staff ratio along with all the other aspects of a recreational program.

There are active games such as whiffle ball, kickball, and floor hockey, youngsters also have daily art activities and a chance to play quiet games such as Uno, Connect Four, and Sorry.

Every week our playground program goes on an exciting field trip one day and spends another fun filled day at Silver Lake where all enjoy swimming and beach games.

If you feel that your child would benefit from the Inclusionary Playground Program, there are still slots open. Please go into the Wilmington Recreation Department at the Town Hall and register. The staff is looking forward to another safe and successful summer.

Library offers chance to show command of wacky facts

TEWKSBURY - Know plenty of weird and wacky facts? Always thought you could do better on those tv game shows than the guests? Now is your chance to prove it.

As part of its series of summer events, Tewksbury Public Library is running trivia contests for teens ages 13 and up. The Mass. 2002 reading theme is the United States, so you can test your knowledge of American authors, states, food and vacation spots. The first contest starts July 1, followed by others beginning July 15, July 29, and August 12. Every contest runs for two weeks. You can enter any or all of them, but only one entry can be submitted per contest. Three winners (with the right answers) for each contest will be chosen for prizes like gift certificates to Barnes and Noble! Everyone who enters is also qualified for a final random drawing to be held at the end of August.

Starting July 1, trivia quizzes can be found upstairs in the Teen/Young Adult section of the Tewksbury Public Library. Completed forms can be returned to the drop-off box there, or the correct answers can be e-mailed to the address shown on the quiz. So when you come in to get those school summer reading books, don't forget to pick up a questionnaire for your chance to win!

For more information on programs and services for teens, visit our webpage: www.tewksburypl.org/teenpage.htm.

Wanted: New Mass Motto

BOSTON - How do you depict an entire state with one catchy phrase? "The state with beautiful beaches, fascinating historical sites, incredible cultural activities, stunning fall foliage," doesn't exactly roll off the tongue, so the Massachusetts Office of Travel & Tourism (MOTT) is looking for your suggestions.

Ideas for a new Massachusetts slogan may be submitted on the state's tourism web site: www.massvacation.com/tourism slogan where you will also find the complete rules and regulations. Entrants will be entered to win one of three, two-night getaways at the Red Lion Inn in Stockbridge, the Fairmont Copley Plaza in Boston, and the Dan'l Webster Inn in Sandwich. Winners will be selected by random drawing. The deadline for submissions is July 31, 2002. All entries will be considered for use in future marketing campaigns.

Practice makes perfect at YMCA

READING - The Aquatic Department at the Reading YMCA Center realizes that if you practice something you can only benefit from the experience.

"Swim lessons are a responsible and practical program. Children will be swimming in different environments throughout the summer. The lessons, which include proper stroke procedure, breathing techniques and, most importantly, safety issues, can come in handy in the different environments. Children who take swim lessons year round are more safety conscious, progress much quicker and get a better grip on the skills and techniques they need" says Donna Griffith, Aquatic Director.

The Reading YMCA Center is currently taking registrations for swim lessons for children as young as six months up to adults. The lessons are offered at various times throughout the week. There will be the ever popular eight week session available. They are also offering two four week sessions. Session 1 will run from July 1 through July 27. Session 2 will run from July 29 through August 24. It will include two lessons per week for the four week session. Practice helps to make perfect.

If you have any questions regarding swim lessons or would like to receive a brochure, please call the Reading YMCA Center at 781-944-9622.

One nation, under God . . . from Stoneham

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
STONEHAM - One nation, under God . . .

What controversy those last two words have caused during these last few days. On Thursday, June 27, the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled out of San Francisco that the Pledge of Allegiance is unconstitutional in that its inclusion of the words "under God" amounts to a governmental establishment of a religion. The ruling was made in conclusion of a suit brought forth by an atheist in California who had been upset that his daughter had been forced to listen to the Pledge of Allegiance when she was in school.

When Stoneham Post 115 of the American Legion first petitioned Congress approximately half a century ago to include the words "under God" in the pledge, little did its veterans know that their request would one day prompt a constitutional debate.

You can stop rubbing your eyes. You have read correctly. A few towns over from Wilmington and Tewksbury, Stoneham was indeed the origin of the plea to insert those two words in the Pledge of Allegiance.

It all started in 1953, when veterans of Post 115 of the American Legion attended a state convention in Lowell and presented a bill that proposed that the two words be included. The bill was enthusiastically embraced, and, from there, it was carried by members to the Legion's national convention. Soon enough, the bill was championed by a congressman from Michigan, who ushered the proposal through the legislature. In no time, the bill appeared on the desk of President Dwight Eisenhower. He signed it, and, effective June 18, 1954, the words "under God" became etched into the Pledge of Allegiance.

See? From Stoneham to the White House to classrooms and ceremonies throughout the land. So perhaps you can imagine how the veterans at Post 115 in Stoneham have been feeling these days. Just ask Past Commander Michael Flynn, who served as a jet engine mechanic in the United States Air Force during the Vietnam War.

"I'm extremely unhappy about it," says Flynn. "After all that we have been through since September, people shouldn't mess with this. We've got a lot more problems in the world than having the words 'under God' included in the Pledge of Allegiance."

Flynn and a few fellow veterans have already done their part to ensure that those two words remain on the lips of those who would rise and salute the flag. During a summer concert at the Stoneham Town Hall last Thursday night, Flynn led the crowd through the Pledge of Allegiance. He was joined in his salute by Honor Guard members Ron Eagleston, Ray Poor and Lee Walker.

"We were very well taken by the audience," says Flynn, who informed the crowd about Stoneham's role in the historic addition to the pledge. "We were greeted with applause."

If he was there, President George W. Bush would likely have been among those who cheered the Pledge of Allegiance. President Bush has called the court's ruling "ridiculous." Indeed, the decision has been greeted with such overwhelming ridicule from a vast majority of Americans and political leaders that the court has stayed its ruling until another hearing that will likely take place.

All the same, there are those who strongly feel that the court's decision was correct, in that the inclusion of the words "under God" does indeed signal an unconstitutional fusion between church and state.

"If you don't want to say those words, then just don't say them," says Flynn, who mentions that he becomes upset when people do not stand during salutes or fold flags correctly. "Everything in this country has come from religion. In Stoneham, we had a part in what people say every day in this country."

AARP takes legal action on behalf of consumers

WASHINGTON - Do you use the prescription drugs Tamoxifen, BuSpar, or K-Dur 20? If yes, you may be able to recover some of the money you paid for these medications. AARP is serving as co-counsel in three class action suits against pharmaceutical companies, charging that these companies blocked the availability of lower cost generic drugs in violation of federal law. AARP is seeking monetary damages for consumers. To find out if you may be eligible to become a plaintiff in any of the law suits, call AARP's Prescription Drug Campaign Hotline at 1-866-839-0449; this is a toll-free call.

Massachusetts resident Helen Donega from North Adams is one plaintiff in the class action suit against the manufacturer of Tamoxifen. When Donega was prescribed Tamoxifen three years ago as the post operative treatment for her disease, the 69-year-old had a serious problem. She could not afford the high cost of the drug her doctor ordered. With no lower priced generics available at the time, Donega was forced to wait three months before filling her first prescription.

"As part of a multifaceted campaign to make prescription drugs more affordable, AARP is coming to the assistance of people like Helen Donega who are paying needlessly high prices as the result of questionable trade practices," says AARP Massachusetts State Director Deborah Banda. AARP joined the three federal anti-trust cases to prevent drug manufacturers from blocking the availability of lower cost generic equivalents through alleged patent abuse, suppression of generic competition and collusive agreements. This marks the first AARP has served as co-counsel in federal anti-trust litigation against the pharmaceutical industry. AARP decided to become involved in these ongoing cases because they involve important drugs that are widely used by Americans age 50 and over.

For example, Tamoxifen is one of the most widely prescribed treatments for breast cancer. The Tamoxifen anti-trust suit alleges an anti-competitive agreement between AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals LP (the drug's manufacturer) and Barr Laboratories, Inc. (a generic manufacturer). As part of this agreement, Barr abandoned a challenge to AstraZeneca's patent for Tamoxifen and agreed to refrain from marketing a generic, despite a federal district court ruling that AstraZeneca's patent was unenforceable. In return, AstraZeneca agreed to pay Barr $21 million and to supply Tamoxifen to Barr for resale as a generic. Barr's Tamoxifen is priced only five percent below AstraZeneca's brand name version.

AARP CEO Bill Novelli explains, "Generic drugs approved by the Food and Drug Administration as equivalents to brand name drugs give customers quality alternatives at reasonable prices. Our aim is to help people get affordable access to the drugs they need."

AARP's legal initiatives are one element of a broad campaign to make prescription drugs more affordable. The organization is lobbying for meaningful prescription drug coverage in Medicare and is working with state legislatures to make drugs more available and affordable - especially for older Americans with moderate and low incomes. In Massachusetts, AARP worked hard to provide all residents age 65 and above - as well as younger disabled persons with qualified disabilities - the opportunity to enroll in Prescription Advantage, a first-in-the-nation insurance-based prescription drug plan, backed by the state.

AARP is also expanding its voter education initiatives and has recently launched a national educational effort "Check Up on Your Prescriptions," to encourage consumers to take steps to use prescription drugs wisely and seek less expensive alternative drugs.

AARP is a nonprofit, nonpartisan membership organization for people 50 and over. It provides information and resources; advocates on legislative, consumer, and legal issues; assists members to serve their communities; and offers a wide range of unique benefits; special products; and services for its members. These benefits include AARP Webplace at www.aarp.org, Modern Maturity and My Generation magazines, the monthly AARP Bulletin and a Spanish language newspaper, Segunda Juventud. Active in every state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands, AARP celebrates the attitude that age is just a number and life is what you make of it.

In Massachusetts, AARP represents more than 860,000 members age 50 and above.

Red Cross experiencing blood shortage

DEDHAM - There is a serious blood shortage in this area. The American Red Cross Blood Services - New England Region has issued an appeal for blood donors, as supplies have dropped to critically low levels. Donors of all types are needed.

"Unless people respond and give blood now, hospitals may not have the blood they need to perform surgeries and handle emergencies," said Dr. Richard Benjamin, Chief Medical Officer of the New England Region.

The Red Cross is currently distributing blood products to hospitals on an emergency basis, based on patient need.

Post September 11, the blood inventory surged to a seven day supply, but as Dr. Benjamin points out, "Elevated blood levels posted after September 11 were utilized long ago by patients needing blood transfusions."

Many people think blood can be frozen and stored indefinitely. However, blood is a perishable commodity. Red blood cells only last 42 days. Platelets only last five days. New donors are needed every day to replenish the blood supply.

Anyone who is at least 17 years of age, weighs at least 110 pounds and is in generally good health may be eligible to donate. Individuals can donate every 56 days. To schedule an appointment, or for more information about donating blood, please contact the American Red Cross at 1-800-GIVE-LIFE (1-800-448-3543). Please help.

2001 Report on Water Quality - Wilmington Water Department

Working for you!

Since 1927, the Wilmington Water Department has been providing clean drinking water to our community. As drinking water professionals, we work hard to ensure that the water that you use every day is of the highest quality and that it meets all state and federal requirements.

This report presents information about our operations, the quality of the water we deliver, and some useful information on water use. Wilmington's water exceeded the strict regulations both of the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection. Each year, we will publish a new report highlighting any changes in our system and updating you with the most recent water quality information. We are pleased to provide this report which provides information on year 2001.

The Source and Treatment of Your Water

The Wilmington Water Department provides drinking water to 99% of all residents and businesses in Wilmington. The source of water is groundwater, pumped from nine wells (see map) located throughout Wilmington. From the wells, the source water is pumped to one of two treatment plants. Here the water is treated using filtration and disinfection to remove or reduce any harmful contaminants from the source water.

From the treatment plants, the water is pumped to one of three storage tanks and to the homes and businesses in Wilmington. To provide the highest protection for the source water, Wilmington has established zoning bylaws, including groundwater protection, floor drain regulations, and water use restrictions. The town map indicates the location of the wells and the water treatment plants, and the zones of protection surrounding each well or well field (shown as lightly shaded areas.)

The town maintains interconnections and/or agreements with North Reading, Burlington, Woburn and Tewksbury for additional water supply in the event of an emergency.

Water Quality Information

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Act limits the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. We treat our water according to EPA's regulations.

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up some substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining and farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum, can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the DEP and EPA prescribe regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water that must provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised people such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by crypto$poridium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791)

Water Source Protection

The Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has prepared a Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP) Report for the water supply source serving this water system. The SWAP report assesses the susceptibility of public water supplies. To improve protection of the water supply, the SWAP report recommends the education of business and residents on proper disposal of hazardous materials and the monitoring of land uses within the Zone II areas. We will be addressing these recommendations by mailing out educational materials on proper disposal of hazardous materials, encouraging people to participate in the household hazardous waste collection day sponsored by the Water Department and encouraging the Town's community Technical Review Committee to be very aggressive in enforcement of the Aquifer Protection by-law. You can help by practicing good septic system maintenance and not using them to dispose of solvents, paints, etc., and limiting pesticide, herbicide and fertilizer use. If you would like to see a copy of the SWAP report, it is available at the Wilmington Water Department, and on-line at www.state.ma.us/dep/brp/dws/. For more information call the Wilmington Water Department at (978) 658-4611.

Water Conservation Tips

The Massachusetts Drought Management Task force has issued a "drought watch" for the entire state. This indicates the need to keep a close watch on our water resources. The town continues to have a mandatory outdoor water restriction: odd numbered houses use water on odd numbered calendar days, even numbered houses use water on even numbered calendar days. In addition, underground sprinkler systems can only be used between the hours 7 PM and 6 AM. Water conservation measures ensure adequate water reserves for the most critical residential and emergency uses and can also cut the cost of water treatment. There are a number of measures you as the water consumer can undertake to conserve on water usage.

Water conservation outside

- Minimize the size of your lawn as lawn watering may consume more than 30% of summer residential water use.
- Use mulch around plants and shrubs and choose plants that don't need much water.
- Use water from a bucket to wash your car, and save the hose for rinsing.
- Sweep clippings and leaves from walks and driveways rather than using the hose.

Water conservation in your home.

- Fix leaking faucets, pipes, toilets, etc.
- Install water-saving devices in faucets, toilets and appliances.
- Wash only full loads of laundry
- Don't use the toilet for trash disposal.
- Take shorter showers
- When washing hands, brushing teeth or shaving, use only as much water as you need.

DO YOU WANT TO LEARN MORE ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER? Do you have questions regarding this report?

The Wilmington Water Department responds to all concerns, questions and comments. To address any issues or to get more involved, please contact Mr. Michael J. Woods, Water and Sewer Superintendent, by calling (978) 658-4711 or writing to Town of Wilmington, Water and Sewer Department, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA 01887, or e-mail comments and inquiries to water@town.wilmington.ma.us. You are also welcome to attend the Water and Sewer Commission meetings, held every third Thursday of the month, unless otherwise posted, at 5:00 PM in the Town Hall, room 9, 121 Glen Road in Wilmington.

Water Quality Data Table

The following table provides information about substances that have been detected in the water during the 2001 calendar year, unless otherwise noted. Only compounds that were detected are reported. Because water from all wells is blended within the distribution system, these data represent the range of water quality in all wells.

Terms and Abbreviations used in Data Table
Maximum Contamination Level Goal (MCLG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety. Maximum Contamination Level (MCL): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment. Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow. 90th Percentile: Ninety percent of the samples are below the action level. (None of ten sites sampled were at or below this level.) Treatment Technique (TT): A process aimed to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water. Below per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L) (one penny in ten thousand dollars). Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter (ug/L) (one penny in ten million dollars). ppb-ppm conversion: 1 ppb = 0.001 ppm. (Note: 1 ppm = 1,000 ppb.) Not Applicable (NA): No applicable SMCL or ORSL suggested maximum concentration level. Massachusetts Office of Research and Standards Guidance (ORSG): This is the concentration of a chemical in drinking water at or below which, adverse health effects are unlikely to occur after chronic (lifetime) exposure. If exceeded, it serves as an indicator of the potential need for further action.

Is that health plan too good to be true?

BOSTON - State Representative James R. Miceli was recently notified of a warning regarding some health insurance plans that could affect the health and safety of area residents. Rep. Miceli and the Massachusetts Division of Insurance would like to warn the public to be wary of health plans that appear to good to be true. In the last year, more than 50 unauthorized health plans have been found operating in the United States, including five here in Massachusetts.

In addition to notifying at risk populations, the Division of Insurance is issuing a bulletin this week to all licensees authorized to sell health insurance reminding them of their obligation to sell only health products that are underwritten by properly licensed companies and that they will be held accountable for the marketing and/or selling of unauthorized health plans. Penalties for such actions could include fines, license suspensions or revocation.

For instance, in December 2001, the Division issued cease and desist orders to all Massachusetts representatives of Employers Mutual, LLC of Carson City, Nevada. A federal court judge has since frozen the assets of this unlicensed entity, but not before company officials allegedly diverted more than $6 million in health plan assets to personal accounts. More than 22,000 beneficiaries, including over 1,200 in Massachusetts, believed they had purchased an approved and regulated product. The presiding federal court judge shielded Employers Mutual's plan members from responsibility for unpaid claims to health care providers and collection agencies that total over $4.5 million nationwide and more than $500 thousand in Massachusetts.

Consumers, especially self-employed individuals and members of professional associations, who are approached with an offer to enroll in a low cost health plan should:

1. Contact the Division of Insurance Agent & Broker Licensing Section at (617) 521-7428 or Rep. Miceli at (617) 722-2582 to find out if the broker/agent offering the product is licensed and in good standing with the Commonwealth.

2. Check the Division's Licensed Company List/Health Insurers at www.state.ma.us/us/doi/companieslist.html to determine if an entity is licensed to sell life, accident and health products in Massachusetts or contact the Division at 617-521-7392/7396 or Rep. Miceli at 617-722-2582.

3. The Division's website also provides lists of all approved non-group and small group health insurance products currently available in Massachusetts at www.state.ma.us/doi/Consumer/CSShealth.html.

Red Flags: What to be wary of

- *Plans that offer unusually low rates and require very little or no medical underwriting

- *Plans with names that closely approximate those of legitimate insurance companies.

- *Plans that are offered exclusively through professional associations, guilds, trusts, unions, or Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangements (MEWAs).

- *Plans that require the payment of dues prior to obtaining health coverage.

- *Claims that coverage is employer sponsored and exempt from state licensing and regulation under the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). Legitimate ERISA plans are not usually sold by agents or brokers.

"Sales and marketing materials that avoid the use of the word 'insurance' or claims by agents or brokers that a health plan is exempt from regulation because it is not insurance.

"These products and consumers who purchase them are not protected by state insurance laws. It is extremely important for customers to pay attention to the warning signs and contact the Division of Insurance if they have any doubts," said Commissioner of Insurance Julie Bowler.

Representative Miceli asks that anyone who feels that he or she has been affected by fraudulent health insurance contact him immediately. "Every citizen has the right to access their Health Care without fear that unlawful companies are stealing their money and services," asserted Representative Miceli.

Sen. Tucker announces successful Mercury Thermometer Exchange

BOSTON - Senator Sue Tucker has announced the success of the Mercury Thermometer Exchange at the State House. The event was part of a statewide Zero Mercury Strategy geared at Making Massachusetts homes mercury free and safer for children.

"Mercury poses a serious threat to all of us, but especially to children," said Senator Tucker, a lead sponsor of legislation to reduce mercury contamination in the Commonwealth.

Tucker said exposure to the liquid metal is harmful to the nervous system and that young children with developing nervous systems, are particularly vulnerable to the toxic effects of the substance, which can impair memory, attention span, language and motor skills.

State employees offered over their mercury thermometers, double wrapped in plastic bags for heightened security, and received a free digital thermometer in return. The exchange was part of a week long series sponsored by the Zero Mercury Campaign that took place at state and federal buildings this week.

"This represents an important and crucial step in our on going efforts to eliminate the presence of this hazardous substance," Tucker added. Since February, over 95,000 mercury thermometers have been collected.

For more information, contact the Office of Senator Tucker at 617-722-1612.

The Friends of the Library are selling a patriotic red, white and blue version of the Bookworm logo t-shirt. The Friends are also selling the official summer reading program Star Spangled Summer at Your Library t-shirt which depicts the American flag in the shape of a book. Due to the July 4 holiday, Bookends, the library's book discussion group, will meet Wednesday, July 10 at 7 p.m. in the Conference Room. The book that will be discussed is Far From the Tree by Virginia DeBerry.

Oldies music

Everything old is new again this summer at the library. If you remember the music of the fifties, sixties and seventies or are a "youngster" with a passion for rock and roll roots music you'll want to browse through our new "Oldies" CD collection. A few of the items available are:

Frat Rock: The Greatest Rock 'n Roll Party Tunes of All Time: This disc is guaranteed to spice up any barbecue with 60's anthems such as "Louie Louie" (The Kingsmen); "Wipe Out" (Surfaris), and "Shout" (Isley Brothers).

Back to Mono (1958-1969): This four disc set is a testament to the genius and vision of Phil Spector. This man behind the music (The Righteous Brothers, The Crystals, the Ronettes and others) produced some of the most well known 45's ever recorded and his trademark "Wall of Sound" changed the course of Pop music forever.

The All Time Greatest Hits of Roy Orbison: Roy Orbison; Country-pop singer, songwriter, legend. These songs speak for themselves.

Motown—the classic years. This CD includes some of the classic Motown titles, such as "Heat Wave" by Martha and the Vandellas and "What's Going On" by Marvin Gay.

Stop by the library and check out some oldies music for your next summer barbecue.

Holiday hours

The library will close at 5 p.m. Wednesday, July 3 and be closed Thursday, July 4. The library will be open Friday, July 5. The library will be closed on Saturdays until after Labor Day.

Book sale breaks record

Lahey Clinic's summer safety guide is online

BURLINGTON—Lahey Clinic has announced the launch of its new Summer Safety Guide to help you have a safe and enjoyable summer. Beginning now the guide will be available through the Lahey web site, <http://www.lahey.org>.

The Summer Safety Guide is designed to help people of all ages answer safety questions about everything from sun and swimming to spider bites. It also features advice from Lahey doctors specializing in a variety of fields.

"People often say, 'I don't wear sunscreen every day because I'm not out for an hour at a time or anything.' Yet they will run errands and be in and out for six, 10-minute intervals and it adds up to the same sun damage," says Lahey Clinic dermatologist Darlene Johnson, MD.

As for those hot summer days, Lahey Clinic pediatrician Claire Wilson, MD, says, "Don't get too wrapped up in the carefree feelings of the season. Although the summer months can be lots of fun, parents need to make sure both they and their children understand the additional safety issues that come into play when the majority of kids' time is spent outdoors."

Lahey Clinic doctors, nurses and support staff are happy to help you make this a fun and safe summer. For more information, please contact Rose Lewis or Stephanie Hildreth in the Department of Communications and Marketing.

About Lahey Clinic
Lahey Clinic, a physician-led, non-profit group practice, is world renowned for innovative technology, pioneering medical treatment, and leading edge research. A teaching hospital affiliated with Tufts University School of Medicine, the Clinic provides quality healthcare in virtually every specialty and subspecialty, from primary care to cancer diagnosis and treatment to kidney and liver transplantation.

Library offers chance to show command of wacky facts

TEWKSBURY—Know plenty of weird and wacky facts? Always thought you could do better on those tv game shows than the guests? Now is your chance to prove it.

As part of its series of summer events, Tewksbury Public Library is running trivia contests for teens ages 13 and up. Senior Center will be closed on July 4

TWKSBUURY - A safe and happy Fourth of July is wished to all as we celebrate the birthday of our country's independence! On this 4th of July 2002, I'm sure we will all take some time to reflect on the very special blessing of freedom. On September 11 of last year, we saw just how quickly that freedom can be wiped out with a terrible act of terrorism. Our nation was in shock, was in mourning and we prayed for those who lost their lives and for those who were so courageous. With our sadness came a renewal of the American spirit. Let us celebrate that spirit this 4th of July - the spirit of brotherly love, caring and sharing and of one nation under God. May God Bless America and let freedom ring!

The Senior Center will be closed on the 4th of July and there will be no activities taking place on Friday, July 5.

Special thanks are extended to all those who helped with the Senior Center Yard Sale this past weekend: our Senior Citizen volunteers; Arthur Bergeron, our antique appraiser; those who made donations for our Senior tables; and last, but far from least, all of you who patronized the event. With everyone's help we raised $1,256 for the Senior Center Building Fund! The winner of the 50/50 raffle was Karen Poisson. Congratulations Karen!

This month's Senior Center "Cootie Party" will be held Friday, July 12 beginning at 12:45 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

The seniors will hold their next Breakfast Benefit Sunday, July 14 from 7:30 to 11 a.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The menu will include: pancakes, scrambled eggs, bacon, homefries, beans, cinnamon bread and beverage along with a friendly atmosphere. All proceeds will benefit the Senior Center Building Fund.

Setup for the breakfast will take place Friday afternoon right after the cootie party.

The Japanese Bunka class students will travel to Cambridge on Monday, July 15 to visit a Japanese restaurant and stores. There is room for several other seniors who may want to take the trip. For more information, contact Carol or Linda at the Senior Center.

This month's monthly dance will be held Friday, July 19. Tickets are now available. The evening will include a buffet and music by the Perfect Match Band. We ask that you obtain your ticket by July 12.

An activities meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, July 23 at 3:45 p.m. Please mark your calendars!

Dr. Smith will conduct a podiatry clinic at the Senior Center on Tuesday, July 30. This clinic is limited to 25 Tewksbury Senior Citizens. Please note that priority will be given to those who were on the waiting list of the last clinic. One must pre-register by making a $10 co-payment. When making your co-payment you will be given an appointment time. This clinic is partially sponsored by the Council on Aging.

The Foxwood day trip of July 16 is now full as is the trip up to the DeMarais' home in Maine on July 25. Names are now being taken for the waiting list only.

We are planning to schedule a trip to the Home Town Buffet and the Museum of Science during the last week in July. Information on the date and the cost will be ready next week.

A pleasant week is wished to all.

SURF'S UP. What to do when it is nice and hot outside and you have to go to school instead of the beach? No problem. Just bring the beach to your school. Shortly before school let out a few weeks ago, the students in Mrs. Straits' class at the Dewing School in Tewksbury put on a production of "Come to the Sea," which is a musical about life underwater. Donned in shades and draped in beach towels were, from left to right, Tyler Puleo, Santiago Castano, Nicole Vasquez, Connor Corcoran and Courtney Silva. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Middlesex DA Coakley addresses protection of children with day care administrators

AUBURN - On Friday, May 31, 2002, Middlesex District Attorney Martha Coakley delivered the keynote address to the 22nd Annual Conference of the Massachusetts Association of Day Care Agencies. District Attorney Coakley addressed various issues relative to the protection of young children.

"As caretakers of young children, day care providers are on the front lines when it comes to ensuring our children's safety," said District Attorney Coakley. "On a daily basis, they face the many challenges of providing a nurturing and safe environment for children to learn and grow in. It is important that we continue to build a strong working relationship among care providers, social service providers, and law enforcement in order to guarantee that children are provided with the best care possible."

District Attorney Coakley suggested that one of the best steps toward better protecting children and preventing them from becoming involved in criminal activity is to lengthen both the school day and the school year, and stressed the importance of providing children with a strong support network of adults who care about their well being. District Attorney Coakley also addressed the current Child in Need of Services system, or CHINS. She suggested that changes that address the shortcomings of the system would better serve all families.

Since taking office in 1998, District Attorney Coakley has made school safety and protecting children a top priority. The District Attorney's Office has worked to identify and address threats to schools safety through programs like Project Alliance, a partnership between the District Attorney's Office and a majority of Middlesex superintendents, and Community Based Justice, a multi-disciplinary program that couples the District Attorney's Office with school, public health, and public safety officials. Over the past two years, in the wake of the Columbine High School shootings, District Attorney Coakley has announced new school safety measures and convened several school safety training sessions for Middlesex educators and law enforcement officials.

Last fall, the District Attorney's Office launched the second year of its anti-truancy Student Tardiness and Attendance Review Team (START) pilot program in Billerica, and plans to expand the program to other communities in the coming months.

The Massachusetts Association of Day Care Agencies is a statewide advocacy group that represents over 1,600 child care providers from throughout Massachusetts and is committed to affordable, high quality early care and educational services for all children statewide. Approximately 160 day care administrators, representing MADCA member agencies throughout the state, attended the conference. The conference was held at the Ramada Inn in Auburn, MA.

BURLINGTON - Lahey Clinic has announced the launch of its new Summer Safety Guide to help you have a safe and enjoyable summer. Beginning now the guide will be available through the Lahey web site, <http://www.lahey.org>.

The Summer Safety Guide is designed to help people of all ages answer safety questions about everything from sun and swimming to spider bites. It also features advice from Lahey doctors specializing in a variety of fields.

"People often say, 'I don't wear sunscreen every day because I'm not out for an hour at a time or anything.' Yet they will run errands and be in and out for six, 10-minute intervals and it adds up to the same sun damage," says Lahey Clinic dermatologist Darlene Johnson, MD.

As for those hot summer days, Lahey Clinic pediatrician Claire Wilson, MD, says, "Don't get too wrapped up in the carefree feelings of the season. Although the summer months can be lots of fun, parents need to make sure both they and their children understand the additional safety issues that come into play when the majority of kids' time is spent outdoors."

Lahey Clinic doctors, nurses and support staff are happy to help you make this a fun and safe summer. For more information, please contact Rose Lewis or Stephanie Hildreth in the Department of Communications and Marketing.

Special Town Meeting called

Avenue. According to the warrant that selectmen signed on Monday night, two of the three articles that will be tackled at the Special Town Meeting will seek to dramatically change the course of the project. The first article will seek to rescind Article 29. The second article will seek to transfer the intended site of the new library from the Whitefield School to the old Swain School that is located across the street from the Town Common.

The third article on the warrant stands as a separate issue. Petitioner Patrick Nally is seeking to rezone the property at 9 Cobalt Street from "residential 60" to "residential 20." Selectmen Scott Garratt, Raymond Lepore, Michael McCoy and Robert Palmer voted in favor of calling the Special Town Meeting. Selectmen Chairman Robert Cain voted against the measure.

At the start of the meeting, Town Clerk Kay Scanlon announced to the board that the petition for the special meeting did indeed have the 200 signatures of registered residents that is required for the document to be valid. Afterwards, the opinion of Town Counsel Michael Newhouse was read into the record by Town Manager Cairra. In the opinion, Town Counsel Newhouse stated that he felt that the petition that was submitted last Monday was "acceptable as to form." Newhouse did say, however, that he could not guarantee the board that the town would not face legal challenges if certain third parties wished to challenge the result of the special meeting.

Chairman Cain, who was also the only selectman to vote against closing the warrant, mentioned after the meeting that he would participate in any suit that would be brought before the town if Article 29 was rescinded and a third party took legal action.

"It is not something that I would be comfortable doing, but I think that this is so wrong," said Cain, who feels strongly that the library should be built at the Whitefield School.

He is not alone. Selectman Garratt voted in favor of declaring the special meeting because he would have a "difficult time ignoring the request of so many residents," but he vowed to members in the audience that he would support the Whitefield School as the appropriate location at which to construct the new facility. Selectman Palmer agreed with the position taken by Garratt.

Sullivan, Woodbury and those who share their position believe that the new library should be built at the Swain School because doing so would better serve the community's concept of a "town center" as put forth by the Master Plan. Sullivan feels that residents were not given enough time to study and digest the details that were included in a feasibility study, in which a paid consultant examined four locations for a new library and determined that the Whitefield School was the best option.

Opponents to the petitioners, such as Town Manager Michael Cairra and Wilmington Memorial Library Director Tina Stewart, feel that the Whitefield School is the proper location because it meets a variety of criteria. After the meeting on Monday night, Stewart rejected the notion that the facility needs to be built near the Wilmington High School because the library is charged with serving all students in the community, not just those who attend schools that are close to the current one on Middlesex Avenue. Stewart also noted that the Whitefield School is a "valid" location for a new library because it will fit nicely alongside the commuter rail, the bank and a number of retailers in the area.

"It just makes sense," Stewart stated about the benefits of the Whitefield School site.

According to Town Clerk Scanlon, residents have until 8 p.m. on Friday, July 26 to register to vote if they wish to attend and participate at the Special Town Meeting on August 5.

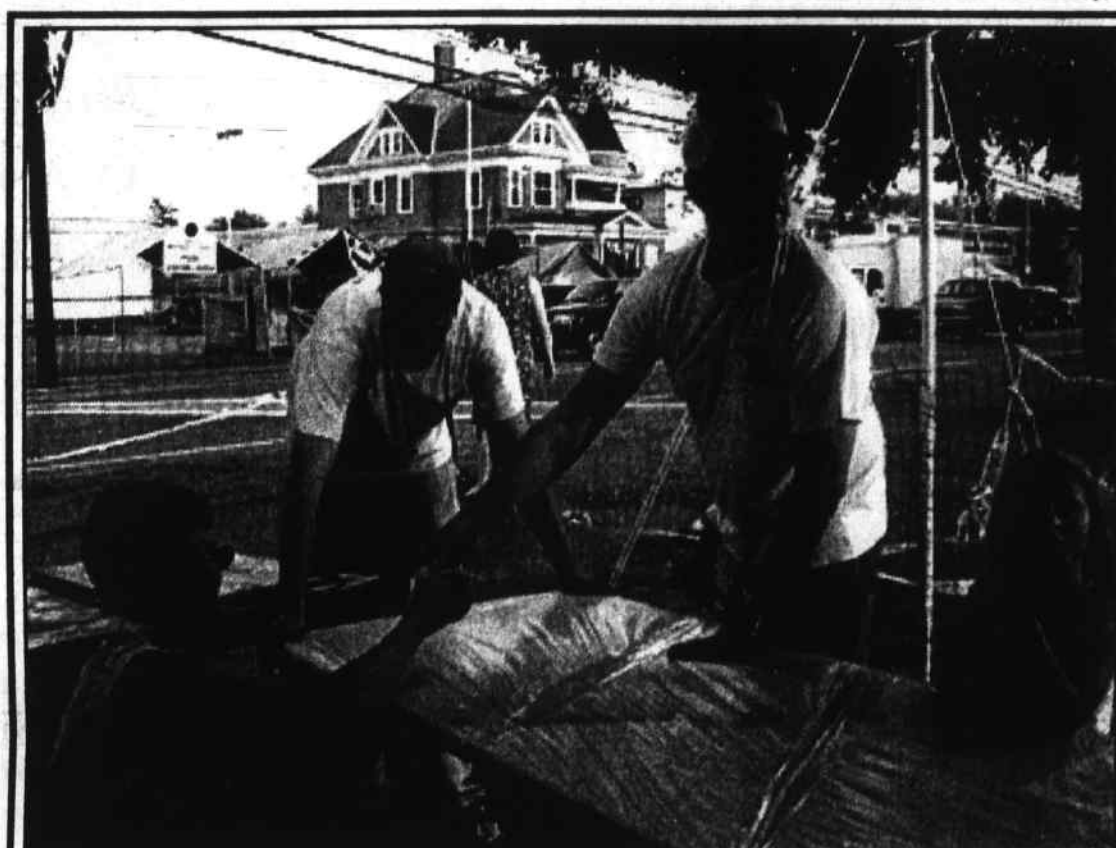

Another date of interest would be Tuesday, July 23, in which the Planning Board and the Finance Committee will hold a joint public hearing at the town hall in order to address all matters pertaining to the warrant.

With five weeks to go until the big event, one would think that much needs to be done in order to persuade both sides of the issue to attend the special meeting and argue their choice of either the Whitefield or Swain Schools to be the location of a new library. Woodbury, for one, says that he is not daunted by the task ahead.

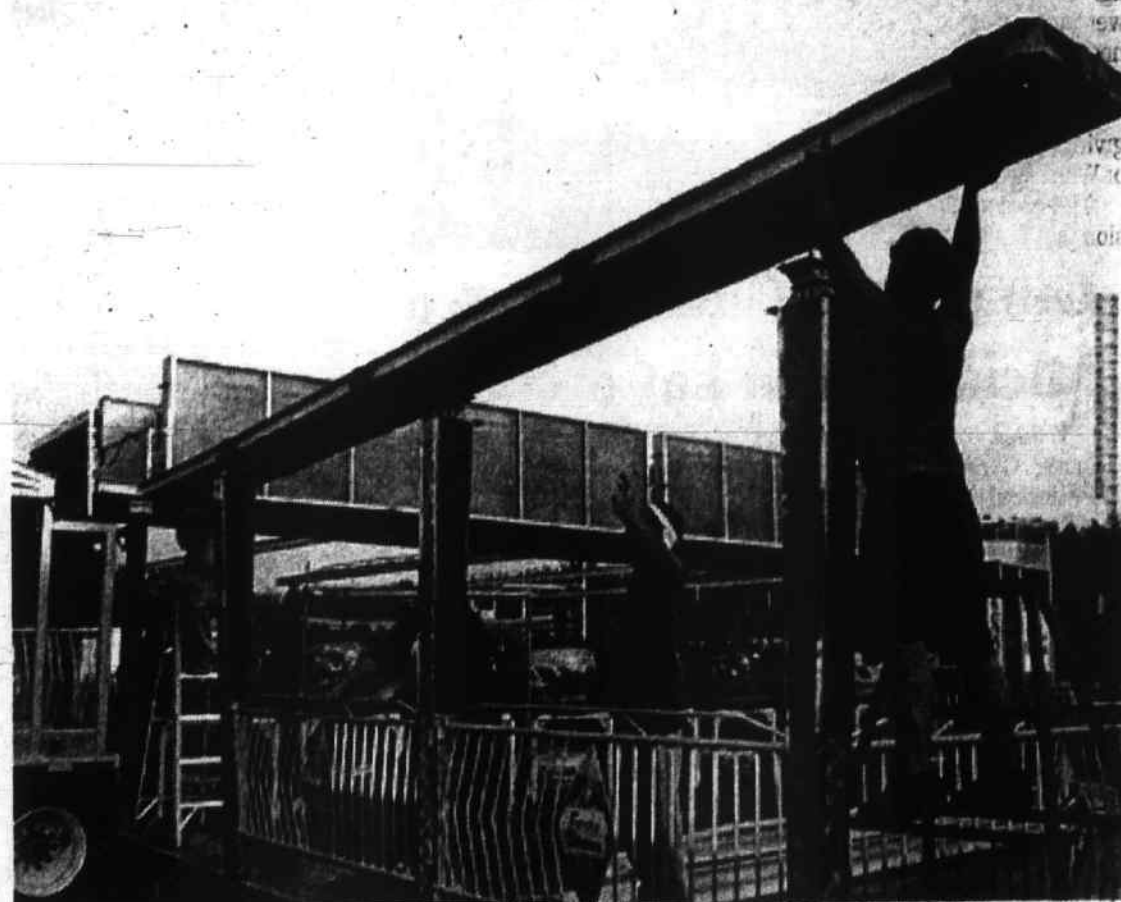

Said Woodbury, "If you look at the work that we have done in previous weeks, you'll see that we already have support."

New mentoring program

"A mentor is an experienced adult who benefits, encourages, helps and shows the ropes to a younger, less experienced person," she says. "Without using the word, most people were mentored growing up by a teacher, a coach, a neighbor, or a family friend."

The program should prove to be a two-way street, for mentors experience first hand the benefits of working with youths and helping them find their way. In particular, says Dr. Golub, "companies support the program, knowing that participation increases morale and job commitment."

To date, employees from such local businesses as Danvers Savings Bank, Analog Devices and Textron have volunteered to mentor students during the coming school year. According to Dr. Golub, Town Manager Michael Cairra has assured the committee that municipal employees will be encouraged to join the program too. Residents in town who may not work at a local company are definitely invited to take part as well.

"Anybody can volunteer," says Dr. Golub, who encourages interested folks to call her at 978-658-9889.

All volunteers will be subject to a screening process to ensure that they are appropriate to the role of mentor. Volunteers will need to apply for a position and supply references.

Dr. Golub, who is the Executive Director of the Wilmington Family Counseling Services, cites research done by Big Brother/Big Sister, that bodes well for mentoring programs such as the one to be enacted in the local school system this fall. According to such research, 64 percent of students in mentoring programs develop more positive attitudes towards school and 58 percent of them achieve higher grades.

Candidates for the Mentor Adventure Program need to be available weekly for one hour between 1:45 in the afternoon and 3:15 from late September until May.

"They can be any age, from college students to retired residents," says Dr. Golub. "Experience working with adolescents would be a plus. However, an open heart is crucial, since the key ingredient to any helping program is caring about the participants."

Wildcats head to Disney

By Matt Kalman
Sports Correspondent

The players from the Wildcats softball team of Wilmington has been through a lot since they were 12 years old.

Now they're off for their long-est adventure yet.

The Wildcats leave this week to compete in the ASA 14-Under softball tournament at Disney World's Wide World of Sports in Orlando, Florida. This is the longest trip the Wildcats have taken to participate in a tournament.

Coach Audrey Cabral-Pini, Wilmington High's junior varsity softball coach, got the idea for a trip to the Sunshine State from her daughter Lani.

"I've been coaching her since she's 10 and this year she said, 'let's do something special,'" said coach Cabral-Pini. "Every year we have a party and I thought she meant like have a bigger party. But then she showed me the advertisement for Florida."

Once the players' parents sachusetts team, one other Rhode Island team and five Florida teams, start play in the tournament on July 4 with two games. They are guaranteed four games total even if they struggle.

"We played one regular season game already and we played outstanding," said Cabral-Pini. "After the game, I talked to the girls and they all said, 'we hope we play that way in Florida.' They may be on an emotional high, not in terms of the game, but in terms of the whole experience."

"If we can settle down, we'll be okay."

The tournament organizers in Disney will do their best to make the Wildcats comfortable. The Wildcats are staying in a luxury hotel, they'll get to enjoy the amusement parks and shows, and they'll be part of a huge opening ceremony at the sports complex. The four fields at the quadrangle are professionally kept and when they're not on the diamond, the players get to sit in dugouts.

play in a summer league and go to four or five tournaments throughout the year," said Cabral-Pini. "We don't have any ringers in there as well. We don't want that. When we win, it's all about us."

Lani Cabral-Pini plays short-stop for the Wildcats, while the rest of the infield consists of Ashleigh Harris (first base), Christina Tocci (second base), Heather Danehy (second base/third base) and Debbie Lyons (utility). The Wildcats' catchers are Stephanie Steeves and Ashley Robar.

In the outfield, the Wildcats count on Robar, Brittany Collins and Jennifer Sullivan. Alyssa Bibau, Alicia Murray and Jennifer Corcoran play the outfield as well, but are not headed to Florida.

"We have excellent pitching and we're usually strong fundamentally," said Cabral-Pini. "What we lack is power hitting, but we play the short game well. If we can bank on our short game, we'll be okay."

agreed to the trip, the Wildcats went about raising the money they needed by canning and soliciting local companies.

"We couldn't go without the giving of the businesses and people of Wilmington," said Cabral-Pini.

Thirteen of the 16 players from the Wildcats' regular season squad are heading south for the tournament. The only one not from Wilmington is pitcher Kelly Lewis, who is from Gloucester.

"We're a bunch of kids from Wilmington who get together and Florida, the Wildcats will also have to battle the heat.

"If they can sustain the heat well, that's the only thing," said Cabral-Pini. "Some of the Florida kids are used to playing in the heat."

The Wildcats never left Massachusetts as a squad before, so no matter what the results, they're going to cherish the next week.

"Win, lose or draw, this is the chance of a lifetime," said Cabral-Pini. "Once they get the feel for travel, I'm sure they'll want to go a little further next year."

Stray Cats finish great season

The goal this season for the Wilmington Girls Under 14 entry in the Middlesex Youth Soccer League's Division Three was to play hard, be aggressive, go to the ball, do their best and let the chips fall where they may. Expectations were kept at a realistic level even though the team, affectionately known to their fans as the "Stray Cats," had captured the Under 12 MYSL Division Three Championship a year ago. This was because the team was moving up into an older and more challenging age group - U-14.

The 2001-2002 Stray Cats include a rock solid defense anchored by sweeper Erika Belsky, fullbacks Meaghan Doherty, Tara McNabb and Samantha Little; stopper Katie Arsenault and keeper Addie Salomon; midfielders Courtney Parsons, Ashley Troy, Kaley Maguire, Emily Clapp, Stephanie Seidman and Garbiella Mirabella who kept the flow of the ball from the back line to the forward line going smoothly all season long and forwards Krysten Augello, Jill Manganelli, Alyssa Hanley, Elysha Clancy, Ally Evans, and Tara Jabour, who put the pressure on the opposing defense. The team is coached by Steve Parsons, assisted by Jim Belsky.

Wilmington finished the regular season with a solid 8-1-1 record, which included 2-1 and 3-2 victories against Medford Youth-1, 2-0 wins against Burlington-2, a 1-1 tie and a 1-0 loss to nemesis North Reading-3, 2-0 and 2-1 decisions against Reading-2, and 4-0 and 5-0 whitewashes against Stoneham-3. Each game featured a hard nosed, stingy defense which gave up the least goals in all of MYSL's Girls U-14 Division Three and a scrappy offense which made the most of its scoring opportunities.

What made this season all the more remarkable was the fact that this year's Stray Cats are a pure Under 13 team, playing in an Under 14 league. Week after week, Wilmington took the field against much larger opponents, but if their opponents took Wilmington too lightly, they did so at their own peril. All of the hard work during the regular season allowed Wilmington to qualify for the MYSL Commissioner's Cup Tournament and overall Division Championship game.

The Tournament was scheduled for the weekend of June 15 and 16, 2002 at Wilmington's Shawheen Fields. Saturday June 15 opened wet, raw and dreary and Wilmington took the field facing the drizzle, 50 degree temperatures and a Medford Youth-1 team looking for revenge after having been beaten twice by the Stray Cats during the regular season. The game as a defensive battle throughout. Unfortunately, the Stray Cats came up short, by a score of 1-nil.

The Cats then faced a Chelmsford-2 team in the second game of the Tournament. After falling behind by a goal, Wilmington showed great character and courage by coming back to tie the game 1-1 against another larger, and a year older, team. Chelmsford proved to be just a bit tougher than Wilmington in this game, as they scored a second goal, then held off a spirited Wilmington challenge and beat the Stray Cats 2-1.

Wilmington's third game of this rainy weekend was scheduled for Sunday evening, June 16 at 5 p.m. against Melrose-3; and this one was for the Division Three Championship. From the opening whistle the Stray Cats came out smoking, dominating play in the Melrose end. Melrose's defense proved tough, though, as Wilmington's offense was thwarted time after time. With about four minutes left in the first half MYSL officials cleared the fields, due to thunderstorms and accompanying heavy rains, thunder and lightning. Shortly thereafter, the game was postponed and rescheduled for Tuesday June 18, 2002.

The weather on Tuesday afternoon was very different from the weather of the previous weekend; it was warm, sunny and fairly humid. Also, due to prior commitments, three Wilmington players were unable to participate in the game. The remaining Stray Cats made up their minds to go out and work extra hard for the championship. They had their sights set on earning their second Division Championship in a row, and only Melrose stood between them and their season long goal.

Once again the Stray Cats came out fast and furious, putting good pressure on the Melrose defense and keeper. Once again, Melrose proved up to the task, even mounting a couple of offensive thrusts of their own, which were easily parried by Wilmington's solid defensive back line. A good first half ended in a 0-0 tie after the Cats survived a penalty kick right at the end of it - and set the stage for one final half of soccer to decide who would wear the Division crown.

In the second half, the Cats once again came out determined to bring the play to Melrose. Finally, with about eight minutes left in the game, Krysten Augello made a nice run down the left center of the attack zone and calmly tucked the ball into the left corner of the net, giving Wilmington a 1-0 lead. This seemed to ignite Melrose and they made several good offensive attacks, only to be frustrated by the vaunted Stray Cat defense.

The referee finally blew his whistle, ending this nail biter of a game with a score of Wilmington 1, Melrose 0. This hard fought victory capped another successful spring season for the Wilmington Stray Cats, who earned the MYSL's Under 14 Girls Division Three Championship - their second in a row. This is essentially the same squad that captured the MYSL Under 12 Division Three Championship one year ago.

No one can predict how next season will play out. But no one can take away the tremendous accomplishments of the Wilmington Stray Cats over the past two seasons: winning a U-12 Division Championship last year; moving up to the U-14 level as a pure U-13 team and repeating as Division Champs. Repeating as a Champion is tough at any level; doing so when competing against physically larger opponents makes Wilmington's feat all the more satisfying.

AAA First Round Playoffs

@ Boutwell School, Monday, June 24
Rockies 10 - Blue Jays 9

This excellently played game went down to the wire as the Jays had the tying and lead runs on base in their last at bat, with the Rockies holding on at the end for the close victory. The Blue Jays were definitely the leagues most improved team down the stretch and proved it once again as they got down early, but never quit. The Jays rallied in the late innings to make it a tight game with key at bats by Pat Gadaminsky, Dom McCann, Dan Mills and Steve Doucette who each scored two runs in the contest. The pitching of Joe Castiglia and Dom McCann and the defense of Andrew Flodin and Russ MacDonald also helped to keep the battling Blue Jays in the game in the late innings.

For the Rockies, starting pitcher Bill McGrath earned the victory with a strong four inning effort, also helping himself out with many fine defensive plays. Josh Blackburn and Nick Russo helped lead the Rockie offense early scoring two runs apiece. Patrick Welch and Cory Kulacz continued their hot hitting as well to aid the Rockie attack. But, an early 10-2 lead was cut to 10-9 by the gutsy Blue Jays team only to see the Rockies hold on as pitcher Tim Waterman was able to get the final two outs with the potential go ahead runs on base in the last inning. This contest was not only well played, but also saw both teams demonstrate great heart and sportsmanship.

AAA Rockies 16 - Mariners 7

June 23, @ Boutwell School

This makeup of an earlier, rained out game was the regular season finale between these two closely matched teams, with the Rockies looking to avenge a loss to the Mariners from three days previous. The bats of Bryan Riley, Cory Kulacz, Andrew McGrath and Tom Maio helped lead the way early for the Rockies and stake them to a first inning lead that they would not relinquish. But, the big bats of Mike Denunzio, Justin Rivera and John Daily helped the Mariners stage rallies of their own as they all had 2 hits apiece. Brandon Furbush pitched a strong game for Mariners striking out six. While for the Rockies, Cory Kulacz went the distance for the victory striking out nine. Defensively, the Mariners Don Holbert made an acrobatic catch in left field to end a Rockie threat, while Nick Russo of the Rockies helped his team's cause with several fine plays in the infield including starting an important double play. All three of the contests between these two fine teams this year were well played and saw great sportsmanship demonstrated by both teams.

Ham radio operators have been providing services that have aided and comforted many people throughout the decades. In time of war they have relayed messages from loved ones to their family members in the armed and naval forces.

to emergency operations and RACES (Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Services) members train on a monthly basis to make sure they are up to the task if needed.

RACES members meet once a month either at the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) District One headquarters in Tewksbury or in their own community communication centers. During these meetings they drill and test on procedures that would be used in case of a real emergency.

RACES member Bruce Anderson (W1LUS) of Tewksbury said, "The fortunate thing for New England is we really don't have big disasters. We stand by waiting, hoping, for something to happen to be active; hoping that nothing happens because it is a disaster."

Terry Strader (KA8SCP), communications officer for RACES Region One said, "We have a drill that tests basic radio communications on the first Monday of every month."

He notes that the tests are on a volunteer basis and they get about 30 percent participation every month. Strader stressed the fact that all of the RACES members are volunteers and are not paid for their work.

RACES is chartered by the Federal Emergency Management Agency and all appointments to the organization are from the MEMA regional director, Kevin Tully in the case of Region One. Every city and town is required to have a RACES representative as part of their emergency plan.

ANTHONY MANCONI

Some people complain that our JUDICIAL SYSTEM is slow, dilatory with too many delays. Well Folks, it sure wasn't that way in the WILD and WOOLY WESTERN FRONTIER days. My great grandfather was arrested for stealing a HORSE. He was tried and convicted the SAME DAY. He received what was commonly known as "SUSPENDED SENTENCE." He was to be HANGED. Early the next morning my great grandpappy was marched to the GALLOWS in the town square. When it was discovered that someone had STOLEN THE ROPE during the night, Grandpappy got to his knees and with arms outstretched and eyes upraised shouted, "Glory be for this MIRACLE. He then smiled and said "NO NOOSE is GOOD NOOSE!"

If you are going to take an

ASPIRIN, now is the time to do it, because my joke, quips and puns don't get any better.

Uncle John told a beautiful girl "If you don't give me a KISS I'LL DIE." Well she didn't kiss him and true to his words Uncle John died 57 YEARS later. Officer JOHN DAIGLE stopped me on Broadway and said "Chipper do you know that Kathy FELL OUT of your car when you made that sharp turn?"

From S-1

"Is that what happened. Gee thanks Officer, I thought I had gone DEAF!" I always buy my plants, flowers and potting soil at GIANNINO'S GARDEN CENTER. I asked Chris "What can I plant in an area that has clayish soil, gets hardly any sun and has a small ledge right in the middle?" Chris smiled (and that's rare) and said, "Why don't you plant a NICE TALL 'FLAGPOLE'!"

For some SUCCESSFUL MEN there's a surprised mother-in-law. During WWII my friend SIDNEY LEVINE called Lena, his girl from Fort Ord army base in California and said "MY OUTFIT is going to be SHIPPED OUT in two weeks, and if I come home now WILL YOU MARRY ME?" "Of course I will" she replied, and then added "WHO IS THIS CALLING please?" I remember when I asked Kathy's father for her hand in MARRIAGE. The old grouch looked down at me and snarled "CAN YOU SUPPORT A FAMILY?" "I sure can sir, I'm a supervisor in the Boston Naval Shipyard." "GOOD" he snapped, "besides Kathy there are FIVE OF US."

I asked BEV SHEA if she liked flowers. "Yes I do" she said. "Well, here are TWO LIPS you can have." She gave me a terrific slap - and now I have THREE LIPS for someone to have.

Readers of WOODCHIPS know how I hate long winded POLITICAL SPEECHES "motor mouth oratory" and (especially during the hot, humid summer months) repetitive, long drawn out SERMONS. At a recent KofC meeting KEVIN FISHER was called aside during a break and asked by GEORGE GOULD "Kevin why did you WALK OUT of church last Sunday in the middle of the sermon?" "I went out to GET A HAIRCUT." "Why in the world didn't you get a haircut BEFORE you came to church?" George asked. Kevin smiled and said "I DIDN'T NEED ONE THEN."

Yesterday is HISTORY - Tomorrow a MYSTERY, that leaves Today for us to LIVE, LOVE AND LAUGH. We can't deposit "Todays" and be sure we can redeem and enjoy them Tomorrow. So please DON'T LOSE a minute's sleep over a Dear John or a Dear Jane letter. PICK UP the pieces of a broken heart and LIVE TODAY and everyday to its FULLEST.

ROSALIE GAFFNEY said to her son KEVIN, "You don't know which side your BREAD IS BUTTERED on." "What DIFFERENCE does it make Ma?" Kevin replied - "I'm going to EAT BOTH sides anyway."

BOB GIGUERE has a PARROT that talks a blue streak. It belonged to a SEA CAPTAIN. (Some of the parrot's words cannot be printed here.) I asked Bob Giguere why the parrot had a STRING TIED TO EACH LEG? "Pull one and find out" Bob said. I PULLED one string and the parrot said "Hi, what's a gentleman like you doing in a DUMP LIKE THIS?" I pulled the other string and heard "I can tell that you are KIND, FRIENDLY AND SMART." "Hey Bob" I said, "what will happen if I pull BOTH STRINGS at the SAME TIME?" The parrot let out a tremendous screech and said "Ark - you idiot - you must be the NUT who WRITES WOODCHIPS!!"

Comedy and wit on tap in Stoneham

KT Sullivan will bring her award winning cabaret performance to the Stoneham Theatre Saturday, July 13 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, July 14, at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $25 ($21 seniors/students/groups) and may be purchased by calling the box office at 781-279-2200.

Billboard Magazine calls KT Sullivan "one of the finest cabaret/musical stage performers around." Her Broadway credits include Three Penny Opera with Sting, the play, Broadway, and the leading role in Gentlemen Prefer Blondes.

She has headlined at the White House, Carnegie Hall, Caramoor, and the Spoleto Festival and regularly performs at the Algonquin in New York and Pizza on the Park in London. Stephen Holden of the New York Times wrote that "KT Sullivan is the cabaret equivalent of whipped cream atop a surprisingly nutritious dessert."

The Stoneham Theatre is located at 395 Main St. in Stoneham. There is plenty of free parking and the theatre is fully handicapped accessible.

Tickets are available by calling the box office at 781-279-2200 or by visiting the Web site at www.stonehamtheatre.org.

Wilmington's 'Beautiful Bag Lady'

"Mama's got a brand new bag," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"However, this bag is made of paper - yes, paper."

"Three years ago, Wilmington resident Nancy Durette, who is also known as the Beautiful Bag Lady, began creating exquisitely designed evening bags using Japanese and other high quality and fine imported papers."

"Since beginning her evening bag line, Nancy has gained quite a following. Collectors, artists, Japanese culture connoisseurs, and women looking for the perfect accessory to complement their evening attire all purchase Nancy's evening bags. Nancy's bags have been sold at places like Rugg Road in Boston, Perceptions in Concord, where she sold approximately 30 bags during the Christmas and New Year's season, and For Pete's Sake in Londonderry, New Hampshire."

"In addition, Nancy showcases her evening bags at select craft events.... 'As an artist, the joy is in the process of making the evening bags, not in the final product,' says Nancy."

"As a child, Nancy remembers being scolded for drawing on the walls; however, as a high school student, she remembers being rewarded for her artwork. While in high school, she won the Scholastic Art Awards Competition. After graduating from high school, Nancy attended Boston University, where she obtained a degree in design and her life-long love for art led Nancy into a 30-year career in advertising. Recently, she began creating and marketing her trademark-like paper evening bags...."

Burlington's 'great pleasure'

"The annual review of Town Administrator Robert Mercier resulted in overwhelmingly positive comments and a 3 percent raise in his yearly salary," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"As has been the recent practice, the comments of the board members were written privately and summarized by the chair during a meeting."

"At the meeting, Selectmen Chairwoman Juliet Perdicchizzi said the board considers Mercier to be 'a hard-working, talented, and effective manager.'"

"She stated that the board believes Mercier is 'diplomatic' in dealing with people and has a good sense of public relations."

"While stating there were areas where the board believes the town administrator can improve, Perdicchizzi said, 'There was much praise for this work.'"

"The raise, which is at the same level being proposed for the professional and administrative salary plan, brings Mercier's annual salary from $98,000 to $100,640."

"It is with great pleasure we look to another terrific year with Bob Mercier," commented Perdicchizzi."

"In his comments, Mercier said it has been 'a pleasure' to have returned to the job of town administrator in Burlington."

"It was a good move for Bob Mercier and I hope it was a good move for Burlington," he told the board."

"Mercier served as Burlington's first town administrator, holding the post from 1980 to 1986. He returned to the position on Jan. 4, 1999."

From S-1

Andrew when communications to parts of South America were completely cut off. At that time HAM radio operators were the only ones able to get through so that people in the United States could keep tabs on the best way to aid the victims of the hurricane.

Many of the local RACES volunteers were sent out to San Francisco when that city was last hit by a major earthquake and they were called up to help out in New York City after the World Trade Center was destroyed on September 11, 2001.

"If a major fire or storm takes out communications RACES would be activated to provide emergency communications," Strader said.

As with all of the MEMA Region One functions, the crew is especially trained on how to react in case of a terrorist attack or nuclear meltdown, for any reason, at Seabrook Nuclear Power Plant in New Hampshire. The 10-mile buffer around the plant includes six Massachusetts communities.

According to Strader, "Most of the volunteers are seasoned. They have been members for five to six years."

Russell Gardner (WBIDGS) is one of three RACES contact people in Wilmington and has been a RACES member since 1985.

"We used to be a lot more active (in Wilmington)," Gardner said. "We were an extra pair of eyes for the police during special events."

He recalled a recent Halloween when an auxiliary police officer was on patrol with Gardner in the HAM radio operator's personal vehicle. However, that practice has now been curtailed by order of the Town fathers.

Gardner said that he is ready to go, along with Ed Barrow, Wilmington's chief RACES operator and William Gronemeyer, the third RACES member in Wilmington. According to Gardner, the trio is especially useful in flood situations that can happen on an annual basis in the community.

Gardner and others from RACES have helped out with events as large as the Boston Marathon where they work the medical tents and provide emergency communications.

The value of the HAM radio, according to Anderson, is the radios have a much larger area of communications during emergencies. He also noted that in the case of the Marathon, where cell phones are also used, the phone batteries do not last the length of the race.

According to Gardner, he can use his portable radio while driving on a trip from here to Buffalo, New York without changing bands. Whereas CB radios are only good for a few miles.

Computers and the Internet are all dependent on hard wired electricity to operate and are not dependable in an emergency situation.

According to Anderson, "HAM radio is the back-up. When everything else goes down they're left with HAM radios."

He noted that if the power goes out, the repeaters (antennae back-ups that bounce the signal further) usually have back-up power systems and the radios have battery packs.

Strader said, "Amateur radios have the second largest group of frequencies short of the federal government."

As for those messages of love and compassion to the fighting forces overseas, Strader said that the Military Affiliated Radio Systems (MARS) is still operational and works in conjunction with the naval ships at sea as well as the armed forces bases around the world.

The two-radio system has been around since Marconi developed it on the shores of Cape Cod. The site was chosen because it is the eastern most point of the United States on a parallel with England.

Footcare basics important

Take the right steps to take better care of your feet. The American Podiatric Medical Association (APMA) has created the following 10 resolutions for better foot care this year:

1. Don't ignore foot pain, it is not normal. If any pain persists for more than a week, see a podiatric physician.
2. Have new shoes fitted periodically to make sure you are wearing the correct size. Do not just rely on the size you have "always been," but get fitted and be sure.
3. Inspect your feet regularly. Pay attention to changes in color and temperature of your feet. Look for thick or discolored nails, and check for cracks or cuts in the skin.

4. Wash your feet regularly, especially between the toes, and be sure to dry them completely.

5. When you come in from out of the cold don't use hot water to warm your feet. Start out with tepid water and increase the temperature slowly to avoid burning your feet.

6. Alternate shoes - don't wear the same pair of shoes every day.

7. Avoid walking barefoot; your feet will be more prone to injury and infection.

8. Select and wear the right shoe for the activity that you are participating in - running shoes for running, etc.

9. Be cautious when using home remedies for foot ailments; self-treatment can often turn a minor problem into a major one.

10. If you are a person with diabetes, it is vital that

Comfort Keepers

Each Office Independently Owned and Operated

Fresh flowers.
Your newspaper delivery.
Knowing it's your birthday.
Our concierge makes sure it's all taken care of.

Whether you need someone to hold the door for you, to deliver your paper, or even just a friendly face to greet you when you come back home, Wingate's Resident Concierge is here to assist you.

Our concierge can make sure the special meal you've been wanting gets delivered to your room. Or they can lend a helping hand when you need to leave the residence. And if it's a birthday surprise you would like to arrange for a friend, our concierge will take care of it for you.

Having a Resident Concierge on staff is just one way we reflect the Wingate philosophy—a philosophy based on respect, dignity, and putting residents first.

THIS WEEK
Boxford

Surrounded by nature

The residence at 106 Stiles Pond Rd. in Boxford is a newer (1994) custom built contemporary colonial. The I-beam wood-framed construction gives all the three living levels a wide open feeling and a natural flow throughout the home.

On the first level is a family room with oversized sliders to a trellised deck and outside dining area.

The second level features include a large eat-in kitchen with recessed lighting, half bath, living/dining room combination and a private deck overlooking your own white sandy beach and dock.

The third level includes two bedrooms with vaulted ceilings and skylights. There is also a full bath on this level.

The master bedroom has a walk-in closet and slider leading to yet another deck overlooking Stiles Pond.

It is currently being used as a second home for a bank executive and his family (original owners). However it was certainly intended to be used as a year round home as one would certainly want to take advantage of Boxford's school system.

This home is surrounded by Wildcat Reservation with plenty of activities including hiking, biking and horseback riding. Stiles Pond itself offers boating, fishing and swimming. Extremely reasonably priced at $449,900.

To arrange a private showing please call Peter M. at C-21 G.R. Associates (781) 438-1234 x222. Additional information and photos are available at PeterMarchesi.com.
